

Yuck Games

Pirate's Treasure

Bury toys in the Yuck and kids need to dig out, when they find one they need to drop out. Use blindfolds to add to the sensory experience. Or mark the toys and they get a bigger toy or prize based on the markings. (Chunky, Saucy, Snowy – Chunky the best)

Follow the Leader

Have Yuck in various forms, on a tarp, in pools, a Yuckzooka, water balloons and the kids can take turns being the leader and going through the obstacle course.

Save our Ship

Float items (rubber animals, rubber duckies, etc.) in a Yuck filled kiddie pool. Cut 3 long pieces of rope or clothesline to each ring (plastic or Styrofoam rings or inner tubes.). Have each player toss the rings over the floating objects and pull them "ashore". (Any Yuck product will work)

Variation: Give each person a number of tries or give points for a first attempt, a second attempt, and so on. Or time the players, giving them 1-2 minutes to accomplish the rescue.

Scoop Relay

Cut a milk jug into a scoop-shaped container with a handle. Fill one pool with Yuck, and leave the other empty. Each player on a team has a scoop and they must scoop up the Yuck and transfer to the other pool. Shake it up by having each player run back and forth, or have them in a line and transfer from scoop to scoop. Can color the Yuck for each team. (Chunky or Saucy)

Variation: Use the Chunky Yuck and have players carry and/or pass in their hands.

Yuck Relay

Fill 2 flat pans with Yuck, and have one tub of Yuck for each team for refills. Divide players into 2 teams and have them line up. Give the players at the front of the line the pan of Yuck. The players must pass the pan over their heads from one person to the next until the end of the line, the last player runs with the pan to the front of the line and passes it back again. If the pan spills, the player who has the pan must run to the bin for more Yuck.

Variation: Add objects to the pan and see what team loses the most items. Use Saucy Yuck and water it down so it is really loose.

Bucket-O-Yuck

This game can be played individually or in teams. Each person/team has its own bucket, they must be exactly the same, (Use a tub, or larger container for teams). They are given 5 minutes and must run through an obstacle course. It can be simple, a rope strung waist high that they need to crawl over, inner tubes they have to step through, etc. At the end is a tarp full of Yuck. They must roll around and get as much on them as they can. They then go back through the obstacle course and wipe off as much Yuck as they can into the bucket/tub. This continues until time is called. Then each bucket/tub is weighed and the winner announced. They cannot carry Yuck in their hands or arms.

(Obviously this game is going to make a mess, so have it someplace where residue won't bother anyone afterwards) (Saucy)

Buried Treasure

Throw pennies in while the kids have their back to the pool, then they race to find the most pennies. (Chunky Yuck)

Variation: eyes closed

Variation: time them individually

Pop The Piranha

Inflate balloons and tie them off. Using black felt-tipped permanent markers have the kids draw a fish face on the front to look like menacing piranha's, with big mean eyes, open eyes, and lots of sharp jagged teeth. Toss a balloon for each player into the kiddie pool full of Yuck. On the word "Go" have the kids jump into the pool, grab a balloon, and try to pop it by sitting on it. The Yuck makes everything slippery, so there will be lots of falling and getting Yucky. Whoever pops a balloon first wins. Depending on size of pool and number of players you can have all the winners compete against each other, and so on. (Chunky and Saucy)

Frogs on a Lily Pad

Find a musical instrument, harmonica, triangle, kazoo that can be played without electricity. Cut out giant, round "lily pads" about the size of a medium pizza from green plastic garbage bags. Float on the Yuck and have the kids stand outside the pool. Tell the "frogs" that you are going to play your instrument and when you stop they must jump into the pool, find a lily pad, and sit down on it. After a practice run, remove one lily pad, the one left without is "out". Restore the "lily pads" to the top of the Yuck in between each play. (Chunky Yuck)

Variation: Instead of "lily pads," make "boats", "icebergs", "magic carpets".

Gone Fishing

Purchase some small plastic fish, or other sea animals. Fill a tub or kiddie pool with Yuck and have the kids go fishing with plastic cups. See who can scoop up the most. (Chunky Yuck)

Don't Get Yucky!

Divide the players into 2 teams with equal numbers and size of player on each team. Place a long length of rope or a garden hose across the inflatable kiddie pool full of Yuck. Each team must try to pull the other team into the pool. Have players compete one and on without moving their feet, or blindfold them. Tint the Yuck green or blue and float some plastic alligators in it, or Rubber animals for kids. (Chunky and Saucy)

Table Top Shapes

Fill shallow pans with Snowy Yuck. Have cookie cutters, plastic forks, spoons, and other items to make shapes in the Yuck.

Yuck Balloon Toss

Put a pinch of Saucy Yuck into each water balloon before filling. Line up players in 2 lines facing each other, 2 feet apart. When the leader says "Toss" they toss them gently to their partners. Step back one foot. Keep stepping back until you have a winner!

Tug-o-War

Have a pool full of Yuck in the middle. Or put Yuck on a tarp. (Chunky or Saucy)

Yuck Wrestling

Use a large wading pool, or build a pool out of hay bales and heavy plastic. Can also play Yuck volleyball with this set up.

Yuck Instructions

Chunky Yuck

Yuck can be made in plastic tubs if you need to transport, or directly in the container you will be playing in.

1. Fill container halfway with water.
2. Pour Chunky Yuck into water. (Remember, one pound will make a minimum of 32 gallons.)
3. Allow 24 hours for full hydration. (If you use slightly warm water it hydrates faster.) Check back occasionally and add water as it absorbs.
4. Add/remove water for desired consistency. Stir Yuck around with hands, or boat paddle. It may need to be transferred to another container to add more water for continued growth. Finished product will be the size of machine ice cubes.
5. Have fun!
6. Dispose in garbage dumpster, or garden area where it will biodegrade. (Don't leave in piles on grass.) Remember that it is slippery and will be for awhile until it biodegrades. It will dry out and re-hydrate a few times. Don't leave in places where someone may slip on it. (Such as the field where the Olympic team will be practicing after your event.) Have scoop shovels on hand to remove easily. Do not use any cleaning products. It is basically water.

Saucy Yuck

1. Fill container halfway with water.
2. Sprinkle Saucy Yuck onto water and begin to work in with hands or boat paddle. Saucy Yuck has a tendency to ball up and leave dry material inside, just keep working these until they are exposed to water. Continue adding Saucy Yuck to desired consistency.
3. Saucy Yuck has immediate hydration.

4. Dispose in garbage dumpster, or garden area where it will biodegrade. (Don't leave in piles on grass.) Remember that it is slippery and will be for awhile until it biodegrades. It will dry out and re-hydrate a few times. Don't leave in places where someone may slip on it. Have scoop shovels on hand to remove easily. Do not use any cleaning products. It is basically water.

Snowy Yuck

1. Fill container halfway with water.
2. Pour Snowy Yuck into water, mix with hands or boat paddle; continue adding water or Snowy Yuck to desired consistency.
3. Snowy Yuck has immediate hydration.
4. Dispose in garbage dumpster, or garden area where it will biodegrade. (Don't leave in piles on grass.) Remember that it is slippery and will be for awhile until it biodegrades. It will dry out and re-hydrate a few times. Don't leave in places where someone may slip on it. Have scoop shovels on hand to remove easily. Do not use any cleaning products. It is basically water.

(See MSDS) Do not put down drains, it will clog them. Do not ingest as it absorbs water, and need we say more?

Note: The purer the water the better it hydrates. The more minerals and chlorine the less it will hydrate. Allow water to sit for 1/2 an hour for chlorine to dissipate if you have the time. Trying a pinch in your water before your event is a good idea.
